Strains and Dominance

- Indica, Sativa, and Hybrid - These are classifications used to categorize how the plant grows, and the types of terpenes and cannabinoids it contains.
- Indica
 - Affects the body and is more sedative - relaxing and sleeping
 - Known as “nighttime strains”, use to unwind at the end of the night.
- Sativa
 - Commonly more cerebral - Energetic, uplifting, happy, and euphoric.
 - Often thought of as “daytime” strains, used for feeling productive, creative, and focused, and for getting chores done.
- Hybrid
 - Strains cross breed from both Indica and Sativa
 - Common effects include happy, euphoric, uplifting, energetic, and relaxing—it all depends on which hybrid you consume and what effects its “parent” strains are known to produce.
